Fancy. Sylvie Vartan best collection UÇKU / 31.03.2006. Sylvie Vartan: Confidances.Q: Rails 4 routing error, how to resolve I have the following routes in Rails 3.2.13 resources :stories do member do get '/success', to:'stories#success' end end Let's say I have this example url in a web browser When I run this url it says Resource not found error as I've changed nothing in the story model. I have rake routes. In the routes it says: stories GET /stories(.:format) stories#index POST /stories(.:format) stories#create new_story GET /stories/new(.:format) stories#new edit_story GET /stories/:id/edit(.:format) stories#edit story GET /stories/:id(.:format) stories#show PUT /stories/:id(.:format) stories#update DELETE /stories/:id(.:format) stories#destroy I have the following index action in stories controller: def index @stories = Story.all end A: It seems like in Rails 3 it wasn't possible to explicitly name a route. What's interesting is that I made this post prior to rails 4, but could not remember how to do this. I wrote a post about how to implement a custom route and specifically I talk about this error. However after reading about the changes in the new routing system I figured it out. Rails 4 got rid of the trailing slash 50b96ab0b6
